What are Knowledge Organisers?

Knowledge Organisers are documents that contain the key information, or “threshold concepts” that your child needs to know for that particular subject. They are usually about one side of A4 for each topic, and children should aim to memorise as much of the detail on their Knowledge Organisers as possible.

Why does my child need their Knowledge Organisers with them in school?

There is currently a lot of academic interest in the role of memory, and how we can maximise its capacity and performance – something that is vital in order to access the new information-heavy curriculum.

One particularly effective method of helping facts to “stick” is something called “spaced practice”, where a subject is returned to again and again. Although your child may have moved on from one topic to another, their teacher will be revisiting the content regularly, to help your child to really secure that knowledge in their long term memory.

How should my child use Knowledge Organisers?

All students have been given full training on how to use the Knowledge Organisers effectively. Like any resource, if not used effectively, it will not yield the best results. The method that we endorse is a simple one: Read Cover Write Check Correct. When students use this method to help themselves to remember information, we call the process self-quizzing.

Teachers may set self-quizzing as homework, which they will check by doing a class quiz or test. If your child has forgotten how to self-quiz, please encourage them to watch this 15 minute video, which explains the process.

<https://screencast-o-matic.com/watch/cqXQlcU6kt> (<https://screencast-o-matic.com/watch/cqXQlcU6kt>)

With a little practice, your child should become adept at self-quizzing. If, however, they would like a “coach through” – step-by-step – this video walks through the process in real time:

Spaced Revision

Evidence based strategy that involves the four stages, these repeat over a period of time

1. Review a topic
2. Transformation task
3. Practise Testing
4. Exam Questions

Spaced Revision

Stage 1 – review a topic

- For the first 20 minutes students should utilise any technique they are comfortable with to review the topic. This could be highlighting, making notes, creating flashcards or using post-its.
- Often, they might stop after this and think ‘my revision is done!’. But no, this is just the start of an effective learning technique.

Spaced Revision

Stage 2 – Transformation Task

This is building on Stage 1.

- Here the students need to transform the notes or highlighting that they have from Stage 1 into something different. This could be a mind map, a drawing, a song, a poem.
- By doing this they will have to be thinking ‘how’ am I going to show this content in a different form and ‘why’ does each piece belong.

Spaced Revision

Stage 2 – Transformation Task

Create	Transform a topic into a cartoon strip or storyboard; Create a song or poem etc. Produce a revision guide including key points and activities
Evaluate	Create a table of strengths and weaknesses for a topic Write a paragraph on whether you agree with something associated with your topic
Analysis	Create a mind map showing links and connections Create a flow diagram showing links and connections
Apply	Explain why a topic is significant or important Explain a topic using a cartoon/TV character
Understand	Pick out 5 key points about a topic and explain them Verbally explain key terms to someone
Remember	Write down a topic in 10 bullet points Create flashcards

Spaced Revision

Stage 3 – Practice Testing

- With a friend, family member or one of the many websites online that have relevant quizzes –students should test themselves on the area that they have reviewed

Spaced Revision

Stage 4 – Exam Questions

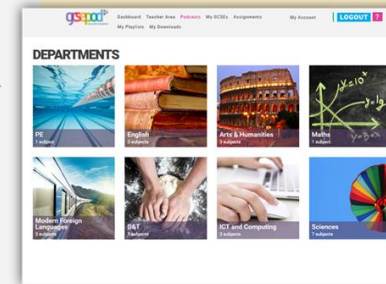

- Finally, students complete an exam question or questions on the area they have reviewed and mark this themselves using a mark scheme or ask their teacher to mark it

Attendance matters

The more time students spend in school the more likely they are to succeed.

Have a growth mind-set

‘People are made, not born’
Learning helps our neurons GROW

The more we learn, the more connections they make

How students think makes all the difference

Growth Mind-set	Fixed Mind-set
You know you can develop intelligence	You think your intelligence is fixed
You enjoy challenge and set ambitious goals	You avoid challenging goals
You keep going when it's tough	You give up
You give 100%	You don't think you should try
You take inspiration from others	You feel threatened by the success of others

TOP TIP...

Time management - produce a timetable for revision and stick to it!

Don't leave everything to the last minute! - You can't revise the entire curriculum in one night.

So plan ahead to avoid a last-minute panic!

Merry Christmas
