NEWS

Geography fieldwork trip

On Thursday 28th April, 46 Year 12 Physical Geography students undertook a fieldwork trip to Blackpool. The purpose of the trip was to allow students to undertake practical studies in a variety of environments, practicing skills and techniques that are relevant to their Geography coursework. The work had a particular focus on the development of coastal systems and landscapes.

The morning was spent in Cleveleys, north Blackpool, studying methods of coastal management. Students conducted bi-polar beach management surveys, a questionnaire survey of visitors regarding the impact of the beach management strategies used, a wave characteristic and longshore drift survey, beach sediment analysis and a groyne survey.

The afternoon was spent on the sand dunes of Lytham St Annes studying sand dune vegetation succession. They investigated how the height of the dunes and percentage of vegetation cover changes with distance from the sea.
