

Dear parent/carer,

We are delighted to inform you that on Monday 31st March we have an author coming into school to talk to all of our Year 7 students. The visiting author is Sophie Anderson, who created The House with Chicken Legs, which students studied from October to February. Sophie will be giving a presentation about her inspiration for the book and her life as an author, as well as spending some time answering questions from the students. This will take place in the Main Hall, during period 4 on Monday. Please remind students to go to their Period 4 lesson as normal, and their class teacher will register them before taking them to the Hall.

Sophie has also very kindly offered to stay behind at lunch time to sign any copies that the students may have of any of her novels. If you do have any copies of these texts at home, please send them into school with the student, and we will ensure that these get signed by the author.

If you do have any further questions about this talk, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind Regards,

Miss Melia
